LIVESTOCK MARKET OVERVIEW - VIETNAM

The new Southeast Asian tiger economy, Vietnam, has shown a robust growth in the last years. With a large and dynamic population, the country has emerged to the forefront of international trade and is a highly attractive target for international investments. Vietnam has only been open to business with the rest of the world for a couple decades, but its people cultural inclination for work and entrepreneurship have quickly propelled its economy. Moving from a traditional and agricultural economy, the Vietnamese government has been slowly but steadily opening the economy to foreign investments and expatriate workers.

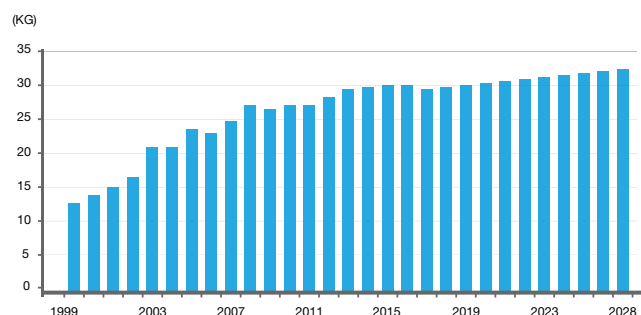

Due to various aspects that have heavily affected the food, agriculture, and livestock industry, including Covid-19, ASF and Avian Flu etc., the demand in Vietnamese market is predicted to increase significantly within the upcoming years. To name a few, the demand for feed raw materials is expected to increase to 28-30 million tons a year costing $12-13 billion over the next 5 years; Feed production has been growing by 13-15 percent annually, making Vietnam the 10th largest producer in the world and the largest in Southeast Asia. All these are bringing immense business opportunities for international investors and stakeholders.

3-5 August 2022

Commercial animal feed products in Vietnam market is expected to grow at an estimated CAGR of 6.6% per year.

By 2028, the pork consumption per capita in Vietnam is forecasted to reach 32.77 kg per person annually.
